Sunset and Maghrib

Why a Ja’fari timetable may show these as two separate times.

Two different markers

Sunset marks when the sun drops below the horizon. In Ja’fari practice, the start of Maghrib is commonly tied to evening twilight after sunset. The sign and method followed can depend on the authority a person follows.

How Namaz calculates it

The Namaz Qom preset uses a 4 degree solar depression angle for Maghrib. Tehran uses 4.5 degrees. Sunset stays visible as a separate astronomical reference. These are app settings, not a universal ruling.

Choose trusted local guidance

Ayatollah al-Sistani’s published ruling says to wait until the eastern redness after sunset has passed overhead, based on obligatory precaution. Follow the guidance of your own marja’ or mosque when it differs.

Sources

sistani.org/english/book/48/2212/ | Namaz app: PrayerEngine.kt